Talk to one of our expert healthcare executive recruiters before you make your next hire. To help you with this transition, we also offer an extensive network of Interim Healthcare Executives.
Wouldn’t it be great if someone knew high-performing medical, nursing and administrative executives who loved working interim positions? We do. We talk to them every day.

Mission Search recruiters are 100% about relationships. Sure we have one of the best relationship databases in the industry, but we go further. Our recruiters ask better questions, and they find the diamonds hidden in the crowds, the skilled Director/Executive/C-Suite level positions, the Chief Nursing Officers, VPs and Administrative Executive who can step into the breech and manage disruption and stabilize teams, and in the meantime, management committees can find the time to find permanent leadership.

Why do our Interim Executives do it? Because they love challenges and the thrill of new locations. They love building new teams, and the sense of satisfaction at helping a system or hospital weather a storm.

At a time when patient satisfaction is related to provider reimbursements, hiring the right staff in a timely fashion makes superior talent acquisition more critical than ever.

Mission Search’s Interim Recruitment Consultants are peerless providers of interim and permanent healthcare leadership solutions focusing on the clinical and non-clinical executive.
